NEW QUESTION: 1
You are monitoring and evaluating a create index statement on your Database Machine and have run the following query after executing statement, providing the output. Shown: Select two reasons why the statement would have produced so many "cell single block physical read" waits compared to "cell smart table scan" waits.

A. There is a transaction that has modified one block of the table on which the index is being built in each cell, which committed after the create index began.
B. There is an uncommitted transaction that has modified one block of the table on which the index is being built, in each cell.
C. There are huge numbers of migrated rows in the table on which the index is being built.
D. There is a ROWID column in the table on which the index is being built.
E. There are huge numbers of chained rows in the table on which the index is being built.
Answer: C,E
Explanation:
A: It could be that row migration.
D: It could be that row migration or chained rows could cause it.
Note:
*Some facts about scans:
Scans exists in "OLTP" systems
Exadata smart scan requires a direct path read.
A direct path read is chosen at runtime based on internal heuristics
The STORAGE clause in an explain plan doesnt necessarily mean you will perform a smart scan.
*The buffer caching in certain "OLTP" environments can occasionally induce conventional reads when smart scan is faster.
*Typically see cell multiblock physical read instead of cell smart table scan waits
*No one-size-fits-all solution can be given here but it is very fixable.

A. The organization must allow access from the internet in the RDS VPC security group,
B. The organization must setup RDS with the subnet group which has an external IP.

Answer: B
Explanation:
Explanation
A Virtual Private Cloud (VPC) is a virtual network dedicated to the user's AWS account. It enables the user to launch AWS resources, such as RDS into a virtual network that the user has defined. Subnets are segments of a VPC's IP address range that the user can designate to a group of VPC resources based on security and operational needs. A DB subnet group is a collection of subnets (generally private) that the user can create in a VPC and which the user assigns to the RDS DB instances. A DB subnet group allows the user to specify a particular VPC when creating DB instances. If the RDS instance is required to be accessible from the internet:

The organization must setup that the RDS instance is enabled with the VPC attributes, DNS hostnames and DNS resolution.
The organization must enable the parameter in the console which makes the RDS instance publicly accessible.
The organization must allow access from the internet in the RDS
VPC security group.
