NEW QUESTION: 1

Identify a situation where performance profiles can be used for application containers.

- A. to specify the maximum time, in seconds, that a parallel statement can wait in the parallel statement queue before it is timed out
- B. to specify the maximum percentage of the parallel execution server pool that a particular application container can use
- C. to enforce a limit on the number of I/Os issued per second
- D. to enforce a limit on I/O throughput per second
- E. to specify the total number of parallel execution servers available

Answer: E

NEW QUESTION: 2

Identify the correct statement regarding the use of performance profiles for application containers.

- A. Performance profiles can be used to identify the number of parallel execution servers that are available for a particular application container.
- B. Performance profiles can be used to identify the maximum number of parallel execution servers that can be used for a particular application container.
- C. Performance profiles can be used to identify the maximum time, in seconds, that a parallel statement can wait in the parallel statement queue before it is timed out.
- D. Performance profiles can be used to identify the maximum percentage of the parallel execution server pool that a particular application container can use.
- E. Performance profiles can be used to identify the maximum I/O throughput per second for a particular application container.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation

Step 1: Augment the data

Scenario: Columns in each dataset contain missing and null values. The datasets also contain many outliers.

Step 2: Add the Bayesian Linear Regression module.

Scenario: You produce a regression model to predict property prices by using the Linear Regression and Bayesian Linear Regression modules.

Step 3: Configure the regularization weight.

Regularization typically is used to avoid overfitting. For example, in L2 regularization weight, type the value to use as the weight for L2 regularization. We recommend that you use a non-zero value to avoid overfitting.

Scenario:

Model fit: The model shows signs of overfitting. You need to produce a more refined regression model that reduces the overfitting.

NEW QUESTION: 3

You administer a Microsoft SQL Server 2012 server.

One of the databases on the server supports a highly active OLTP application.

Users report abnormally long wait times when they submit data into the application.

You need to identify which queries are taking longer than 1 second to run over an extended period of time. What should you do?

- A. Use the Job Activity monitor to review all processes that are actively running. Review the Job History to find out the duration of each step.
- B. Run the `sp_who` command from a query window.
- C. Use SQL Profiler to trace all queries that are processing on the server. Filter queries that have a Duration value of more than 1,000.
- D. Use `sp_configure` to set a value for blocked process threshold. Create an extended event session.
- E. Run the `DBCC TRACEON 1222` command from a query window and review the SQL Server event log.

Answer: E

Explanation:

Verified the SQL Profiler and DBCC answers as correct. However, while Profiler will show this information, the best practice with Profiler is to use it short-term. The question specifically states "over an extended period of time". That means Profiler wouldn't be the best tool for this scenario. Therefore, DBCC would be the best answer.
