Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2

A Denial-of-Service (DoS) attack is mounted with the objective of causing a negative impact on the performance of a computer or network. It is also known as network saturation attack or bandwidth consumption attack. Attackers perform DoS attacks by sending a large number of protocol packets to a network. The problems caused by a DoS attack are as follows:

- 1 Saturation of network resources
- 1 Disruption of connections between two computers, thereby preventing communications between services
- 1 Disruption of services to a specific computer
- 1 Failure to access a Web site
- 1 Increase in the amount of spam

Which of the following can be used as countermeasures against DoS attacks?

Each correct answer represents a complete solution. Choose all that apply.

- A. Permitting network access only to desired traffic
- B. Blocking undesired IP addresses
- C. Disabling unneeded network services
- D. Applying router filtering

Answer: A,B,C,D

NEW QUESTION: 3

You are a manager for a large international bank and periodically move employees between positions in your department. What is this process called?

- A. Dual Control
- B. Mandatory Rotations
- C. Separation of Duties
- D. Job Rotation

Answer: D

Explanation:

Discussion: If a single employee were permitted to stay in one critical position for an extended period of time without close oversight he or she could carry out fraud undetected.

For this reason it is important to rotate employees between jobs. Another good reason is to get employees experienced on their colleagues' jobs. This way, if an employee were for some reason unavailable to work, their position could be covered.

The following answers are incorrect:

Separation of Duties: This is similar to Job Rotation because critical functions are divided up between employees to avoid and detect fraud. It is incorrect because with Job Rotation, people move between positions to detect fraud or even get better at each position to provide some resiliency for the organization. Separation of Duties is more a preventative measure.

Mandatory Rotations: This is incorrect because of the terminology. There are terms called Mandatory Vacations and Job Rotation but not mandatory rotations. Be familiar with these terms before trying to pass the exam.

Dual Control: This term describes how a manager would require employees to work together (two or more) on critical actions so that no single employee can cause catastrophic damage. This isn't the correct answer but it is very similar to Job Rotation where an employee rotates between job duties. Dual Control requires employees to work together on critical tasks in hopes of limiting collusion to commit fraud.
