"You can create both IPv4 and IPv6 LIFs on the same network port" "hostname_or_IP is the host name or the IP address of the cluster management LIF or a node management LIF. Using the cluster management LIF is recommended. You can use an IPv4 or IPv6 address."

NEW QUESTION: 2

A critical device is delivered with a single user and password that is required to be shared for multiple users to access the device. An information security manager has been tasked with ensuring all access to the device is authorized. Which of the following would be the MOST efficient means to accomplish this?

- A. Enable access through a separate device that requires adequate authentication
- B. Analyze the logs to detect unauthorized access
- C. Request the vendor to add multiple user IDs
- D. Implement manual procedures that require password change after each use

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

Choice A is correct because it allows authentication tokens to be provisioned and terminated for individuals and also introduces the possibility of logging activity by individual. Choice B is not effective because users can circumvent the manual procedures. Choice C is not the best option because vendor enhancements may take time and development, and this is a critical device. Choice D could, in some cases, be an effective complementary control but, because it is detective, it would not be the most effective in this instance.
