NEW QUESTION: 2

You have an Azure Stream Analytics job that is a Stream Analytics project solution in Microsoft Visual Studio. The job accepts data generated by IoT devices in the JSON format. You need to modify the job to accept data generated by the IoT devices in the Protobuf format. Which three actions should you perform from Visual Studio in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation

Step 1: Add an Azure Stream Analytics Custom Deserializer Project (.NET) project to the solution.

Create a custom deserializer

1. Open Visual Studio and select File > New > Project. Search for Stream Analytics and select Azure Stream Analytics Custom Deserializer Project (.NET). Give the project a name, like Protobuf Deserializer.

2. In Solution Explorer, right-click your Protobuf Deserializer project and select Manage NuGet Packages from the menu. Then install the Microsoft.Azure.StreamAnalytics and Google.Protobuf NuGet packages.

3. Add the MessageBodyProto class and the MessageBodyDeserializer class to your project.

4. Build the Protobuf Deserializer project.

Step 2: Add .NET deserializer code for Protobuf to the custom deserializer project Azure Stream Analytics has built-in support for three data formats: JSON, CSV, and Avro. With custom

.NET deserializers, you can read data from other formats such as Protocol Buffer, Bond and other user defined formats for both cloud and edge jobs.

Step 3: Add an Azure Stream Analytics Application project to the solution Add an Azure Stream Analytics project

1. In Solution Explorer, right-click the Protobuf Deserializer solution and select Add > New Project. Under Azure Stream Analytics > Stream Analytics, choose Azure Stream Analytics Application. Name it ProtobufCloudDeserializer and select OK.

2. Right-click References under the ProtobufCloudDeserializer Azure Stream Analytics project. Under Projects, add Protobuf Deserializer. It should be automatically populated for you.

NEW QUESTION: 3

You are developing an ASP.NET MVC application. The application is deployed in a web farm and is accessed by many users. The application must handle web server failures gracefully. The servers in the farm must share the state information. You need to persist the application state during the session. What should you implement?

- A. An InProc session
- B. A web garden on the web servers
- C. A state server
- D. Cookieless sessions

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

ASP.NET session state service provides a somewhat slower service than the in-process variant as we need to make calls to a remote server. All session data is stored in memory so shutting down the state machine will wipe out all session data as well.

Incorrect:

Not D: The InProc option is particularly dangerous in a web farm environment. For example imagine one farm machine which stores the session state but not the other. Subsequent web requests from the same user may not read the correct session state.
