NEW QUESTION: 2

Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains multiple sites. You plan to deploy DirectAccess.

The network security policy states that when client computers connect to the corporate network from the Internet, all of the traffic destined for the Internet must be routed through the corporate network.

You need to recommend a solution for the planned DirectAccess deployment that meets the security policy requirement.

Solution: You enable force tunneling.

Does this meet the goal?

A. Yes

B. No

Answer: A

Explanation:

DirectAccess allows connectivity to organizational network resources without the need for traditional virtual private network (VPN) connections.

DirectAccess allows remote users to securely access internal network file shares, Web sites, and applications without connecting to a virtual private network (VPN). An internal network is also known as a private network or intranet.

DirectAccess establishes bidirectional connectivity with an internal network every time a DirectAccess-enabled computer connects to the Internet, even before the user logs on. Users never have to think about connecting to the internal network and IT administrators can manage remote computers outside the office, even when the computers are not connected to the VPN.
