NEW QUESTION: 1

An information security manager at a global organization that is subject to regulation by multiple governmental jurisdictions with differing requirements should:

- A. establish baseline standards for all locations and add supplemental standards as required.
- B. bring all locations into conformity with the aggregate requirements of all governmental jurisdictions.
- C. establish a baseline standard incorporating those requirements that all jurisdictions have in common.
- D. bring all locations into conformity with a generally accepted set of industry best practices.

Answer: A

Explanation:

It is more efficient to establish a baseline standard and then develop additional standards for locations that must meet specific requirements. Seeking a lowest common denominator or just using industry best practices may cause certain locations to fail regulatory compliance. The opposite approach-forcing all locations to be in compliance with the regulations places an undue burden on those locations.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation:

24.3.2. Choosing a Server Startup Method on Unix

You can invoke mysqld manually. This is usually not done except for debugging purposes. If you invoke the server this way, error messages go to the terminal by default rather than to the error log.

mysqld_safe is a shell script that invokes mysqld. The script sets up the error log, and then launches mysqld and monitors it.

If mysqld terminates abnormally, mysqld_safe restarts it.
