NEW QUESTION: 1
You work as a Developer at ABC.com.
All databases are hosted on Windows Server 2012 servers running SQL Server 2012.
The company has a database named Products.
Tables in the Products database contain data including part numbers, product name, color, type and size.
Users in the Marketing department have created brochures for each product.
The brochures have been created in the XML Paper Specification (XPS) format.
You have been asked to add a table to the Products database to store the product brochures.
The brochures need to be stored in a folder structure.
Company users will also need to access the brochures from Windows applications using UNC paths.
How can you meet these requirements?
A. By implementing the FILESTREAM feature.
B. By implementing the FILEGROUP feature.
C. By implementing the XMLNAMESPACES feature.
D. By implementing the FILETABLE feature.
Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3
Which of the following is a dynamic analysis tool for the purpose of testing software modules?
A. Desk checking
B. Structured walkthrough
C. Black box test
D. Design and code
Answer: C
Explanation:
A black box test is a dynamic analysis tool for testing software modules. During the testing of software modules a black box test works first in a cohesive manner as a single unit/entity consisting of numerous modules, and second with the user data that flows across software modules, in some cases, this even drives the software behavior. In choices B, C and D, the software (design or code) remains static and someone closely examines it by applying their mind, without actually activating the software. Therefore, these cannot be referred to as dynamic analysis tools.
